Also I want to talk about my adopted pet roaches.\n\nFirst some background. I took the initiative to renovate the care for a hissing cockroach colony in my school's entomology lab. They went from living in a cramped, dropping-filled fish tank to a much larger and cleaner tank with more diversity in diet and substrate choice. I also decided to adopt some of the cockroaches as pets, to give them an even more pampered life. I'm strictly against the breeding of animals in most situations, including invertebrates, which was why I was happy to have the opportunity to adopt.\n\nI've had my adopted roaches for several months now and even took in another male that had been abandoned by his owners and living alone, socially isolated. It was great to see him become involved with the others and he even managed to secure territory for himself. The enclosure I have for my roaches is healthy, but not bioactive, so I regularly have to clean it. Cleaning it out means disturbing the roaches, but leaving it alone risks letting issues spread from waste accumulation. And the springtails and isopods bred by vivarium makers aren't usually \"exploited\" in the traditional sense; they're basically encouraged to indulge in their natural behaviors.\n\nSo would purchasing some invertebrates to make a bioactive for my roaches be unethical? After googling what they had posted I started reading \"The Case for Animal Rights\" by Tom Regan, which I highly recommend. While reading, my algorithm on YouTube started recommending a few vegan friendly videos specifically Dr. Jack Symes Jubilee debate. After watching that video I went vegan the next day. His approach is what sealed the deal for me along with seeing the absurdity of the people he was debating against. Every nonvegan should watch that video in my opinion. \n\nSecondly I wanted to touch on what that changed looked like for me. For me my food bill was cut in half. I don't buy fake meat very often and I get a lot of my veggies/beans/lentils frozen, canned, or dry. I eat a lot of tofu, which is one of my favorite foods now because of its versatility. I have seen some health benefits already like a loss of some body fat and an increase of energy levels. Honestly the only tough things that I have had to deal with is finding places to eat when traveling and social pressure. Happy Cow has helped a lot with finding restaurants but navigating it with family members has been interesting to say the least...\n\nThirdly I wanted to thank this community for posting so many positive things here and for providing so many resources in the sidebar. I've watched a few documentaries, including Dominion, and I am currently reading \"Animal Liberation Now\" by Peter Singer. I have been working my way through that resource cheat sheet, which is an amazing resource for someone new to the movement.\n\nLastly I wanted to thank Michael from New Mexico who called into \"The Line Edge\" who started me on this journey. reading(truthful) information.I suppose the biggest reason I've always felt unsure is...well,insecurity?\n\nI feel like I only want to be vegan to 'fit in',if im phrasing it right.Like I don't hate vegans as people,and there's some nice vegan youtubers on YouTube.However,I just genuinely don't have the stomach to outright watch those documentaries,as while I do rarely get sick,I try not to throw up,which is a problem for me.\n\nAnother reason I'm unsure is that I feel like I'll be missing all the foods I loved.Every Tuesday,my mam cooks a pizza in the oven.Its kinda become a tradition for a good while(can't remember how much exactly).On a side note,what does almond milk taste like,just curious?\n\nI'm trying not to eat too much meat,but I feel like I need to outright starve myself.Theres also not a whole ton of vegan stuff in my area,and it's mostly frozen food.I do like frozen vegetables though.\n\nTo finish off,I guess I don't want to end up going back into certain habits if I do end up vegan.\n\nI just feel like everyone hates me,and I wonder about the point of existing if every food is animal based.\n<!-- SC_ON -->", I ordered a "tropical smoothie" at a cafe a couple of days ago expecting it not to contain dairy as there was no mention of it being made with milk, yet in actuality it was a strawberry milkshake with honey and whipped cream on top. I'm legitimately so done with this shit. Like, what if I was allergic to dairy products?? I've decided I'm just going to completely avoid eating out due to this nonsense. \n<!-- SC_ON -->", "likes": null, "suggested_sort": null, "banned_at_utc": null, "view_count": null, "archived": false, "no_follow": false, "is_crosspostable": true, "pinned": false, "over_18": false, "all_awardings": [], "awarders": [], "media_only": false, "link_flair_template_id": "93c0fe64-689e-11e5-b5be-0e7eccdaeabd", "can_gild": false, "spoiler": false, "locked": false, "author_flair_text": null, "treatment_tags": [], "visited": false, "removed_by": null, "num_reports": null, "distinguished": null, "subreddit_id": "t5_2qhpm", "author_is_blocked": false, "mod_reason_by": null, "removal_reason": null, "link_flair_background_color": "", "id": "1x36abt", "is_robot_indexable": true, "report_reasons": null, "author": "sparklingcats3", "discussion_type": null, "num_comments": 222, "send_replies": true, "contest_mode": false, "mod_reports": [], "author_patreon_flair": false, "author_flair_text_color": null, "permalink": "/r/vegan/comments/1x36abt/sick_of_restaurants_falsely_labelling_dishes_as/", "stickied": false, "url": "https://www.reddit.com/r/vegan/comments/1x36abt/sick_of_restaurants_falsely_labelling_dishes_as/", "subreddit_subscribers": 1993113, "created_utc": 1791719564.0, "num_crossposts": 0, "media": null, "is_video": false}}, {"kind": "t3", "data": {"approved_at_utc": null, "subreddit": "vegan", "selftext": "Hello, I'll preface this by saying I'm not entirely vegan, I just try to have a more ethic approach to food in general. seeds, chia seeds, flaxseeds, and sesame seeds look promising. Walnut also has some phosphorus, but I don't want to eat too many walnuts.\n\nFor calcium, there are sesame seeds and chia seeds.\n\nThe problem with sesame seeds is high linoleic acid(omega-6) content with very low alpha-linoleic acid(omega-3). Another problem with sesame seeds is high oxalate content. My research on oxalate is not complete, but high oxalate diet seems bad for health.\n\nEating a lot of polyunsaturated fats is dangerous unless your diet is ketogenic and has enough anti-oxidants to prevent polyunsaturated fats from going through peroxidation. Linoleic acid will cause insulin resistance in fat cells in the presence of high blood sugar.\n\nChia seeds have both calcium and phosphorus, but they have too many alpha-linoleic acids and too little linoleic acids. I want to learn more about why the dairy industry is so terrible because I\u2019ve seen a lot of people say it\u2019s the worst part of any animal farming, but I don\u2019t think I can stomach any horrific visuals or super detailed information about it right now. I know it\u2019s a bad industry, but why do some people say it\u2019s the worst? I hope it\u2019s clear I\u2019m coming at this from a genuine question perspective, not a judging or hostile one. \n<!-- SC_ON -->", "likes": null, "suggested_sort": null, "banned_at_utc": null, "view_count": null, "archived": false, "no_follow": false, "is_crosspostable": true, "pinned": false, "over_18": false, "all_awardings": [], "awarders": [], "media_only": false, "link_flair_template_id": "3fa453f8-685e-11e9-862d-0ee93d557dce", "can_gild": false, "spoiler": false, "locked": false, "author_flair_text": "vegan newbie", "treatment_tags": [], "visited": false, "removed_by": null, "num_reports": null, "distinguished": null, "subreddit_id": "t5_2qhpm", "author_is_blocked": false, "mod_reason_by": null, "removal_reason": null, "link_flair_background_color": "", "id": "1x2ailc", "is_robot_indexable": true, "report_reasons": null, "author": "imymta", "discussion_type": null, "num_comments": 43, "send_replies": true, "contest_mode": false, "mod_reports": [], "author_patreon_flair": false, "author_flair_text_color": "dark", "permalink": "/r/vegan/comments/1x2ailc/why_is_the_dairy_industry_bad/", "stickied": false, "url": "https://www.reddit.com/r/vegan/comments/1x2ailc/why_is_the_dairy_industry_bad/", "subreddit_subscribers": 1993113, "created_utc": 1791622726.0, "num_crossposts": 0, "media": null, "is_video": false}}, {"kind": "t3", "data": {"approved_at_utc": null, "subreddit": "vegan", "selftext": "Hello fellow vegans \n\nAbout a year ago I became vegan for the animals and since then I started taking b12 supplement first the dose was 300 then 500 daily.
